HAVE constantly for sale, on fair terms, a large assortment of Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, and Dye Stuffs.

THE undersigned keeps constantly on hand, for the supply of Vessels, Sets of Telegraph Flags, with a Designating Number and Signal Book.

To enable Vessels at Sea to communicate intelligence to each other, and to the shore, when they are approaching it, as well as to announce their arrival in our Bay, are objects of primary importance to Owners, Shipmasters, and all concerned. Among the many advantages derived from the use of the MARINE TELEGRAPH FLAGS, are the following: Vessels, as long as they continue within visible distance of each other, without altering their course, can communicate any species of intelligence, either their names, from what Port they came, what voyage they have had, what Vessels they have met, what Vessels they have left in Port, or that had preceded them; if in want of provisions, stores, water, or assistance of any kind; their latitude, longitude, casualties, or any observations they have made during their voyage. With such facilities, no Shipmaster or Owner ought to permit their Vessels to go to Sea, without furnishing them with these simple means of communicating and conversing in a language that is becoming universal on the Ocean. It is not merely in a Mercantile or Commercial, but NATIONAL point of view, that the Marine Telegraph Flags should be regarded.

Just published, THE UNITED STATES TELE-GRAPH VOCABULARY, containing twelve thousand significations of words, phrases, and sentences, adapted to the use of the Holyhead and Marine Telegraph Numerals. Also just published, the second edition of ELFORD S

MARINE TELEGRAPH SIGNAL BOOK.
